

Long Length Roofing Solutions.

Step joints are now a thing of the past.

Why are step joints incorporated in roof designs?

The answer: Before Fielders long length roofing solutions there was no other option.

Step joints serve no function in a concealed fixed roof and are a legacy of manufacturers' inability to transport sheets longer than 29 metres. Step joints can be the 'weakest link' in an otherwise sound roof. They allow for the build up of debris and constitute as an unwashed area that are not covered by the BHP Warranty.

Fielders Long Length Roofing Solutions.

The success and superior performance of Fielders long length roofing solutions has been well documented since we first introduced on-site mobile rollforming in Australia. Fielders have successfully supplied sheet lengths of up to 84 metres in Australia, eliminating the need for unsightly step joints.

Developers, builders and roofers have now experienced the economical and functional benefits of long length sheeting which has led to its rising popularity. As such, the number of Fielders Mobile Mills has increased to 6, and rolls products like HiKlip®, WideKlip®, and KingKlip®.

Fielders range of concealed fixed, long length roofing solutions is designed to accommodate the thermal movement of the deck and components as well as provide superior resistance to high wind loads.
